Louisa Miller Called.

Louisa Miller, aged 42 years, wife of John B. Miller, died early Tuesday morning after a lingering illness of heart trouble. Deceased has had poor health for several years, but not until the last year did her condition become serious.

She has been a great church worker in the Alpine stake, being connected with the M. I. A. work for about ten years, where she has won the respect and love of her fellow workers and those who came under her influence. No children blessed her married life, which gave her more time for her unselfish work in the interest of the church, where her willing hands and ever cheerful face will be greatly missed.

Funeral services were held in the Fourth ward chapel at 2 p. m. Thursday afternoon. Bishop Warren B. Smith presiding. Singing by choir, "How Firm a Foundation." Prayer, Wilford Booth of Alpine. Singing, "Sister Thou Was't Mild and Lovely."

A brief biography of Sister Miller was given by Joseph B. Forbes. Feeling remarks by Bp. Smith, who read the Fifth chapter of Matthew and measured Sister Miller's life with the Beatitudes of Christ.

Quartet, "Guide Me to Thee," was fittingly rendered by the Misses Edith Hindley, Beryl Featherstone, Myrl Boley and Eliza Hindley.

Mrs. Laura Francome, an assistant officer to Mrs. Miller in M. I. A. work made beautiful remarks of the character and works of the deceased, and read many loving sentiments, which had accompanied floral offerings from prominent M. I. A. organizations of Salt Lake City.

Solo, "There is a Green Hill Far Away," Mrs. Ren Halliday.

Frances Child of Lehi, spoke at length of the character and mission of Sister Miller in life, and that character and mission continues beyond the veil.

W. J. Robinson, brother of the deceased, depicted the condition of the family when Louisa was born, and his mother gave her life that she might be born.

Pres. Chipman made a strong appeal for the living up to our convictions, and sympathized deeply with the bereaved in their deep loss.

Closing hymn, "Oh My Father." Benediction by Bp. Warner of Manila.

BIOGRAPHIC SKETCH.

The following sketch was read by Prof. J. B. Forbes.

The subject of this short biography has been known among us from her childhood, and her intrinsic worth is recognized by all conversant with her life. No matter what we may say or do, how eloquent we may be in our eulogy, we shall fall grievously short in depicting her worth, her unselfishness, her sweet saintly life, while she lived on earth. This we can say, that while she sojourned here grace, kindness of heart, patience, earnestness in faith, conscientious in her duties, true to her convictions, meek in her deportment and true to her God were the characteristics of her life. She was a true follower of the Meek and Holy Jesus.

Sister Louisa Robinson Miller, daughter of John Robinson and Mary Ann Levens Robinson, was born in Grantsville, Sept. 9, 1874. Her mother died shortly after the birth of Louisa, but prior to her birth expressed the wish "That if her child lived, it should be given to those noble souls, Melissa, Alice and Mary Mott to rear and educate."

Surrounded by influences that developed the best in the child's nature she grew up to womanhood.

Sister Louisa married Bro. John B. Miller Nov. 9, 1892, and they have lived in harmony until death separated them, but not forever.

She has occupied many responsible positions in the ward and stake, a successful teacher in the Theological class, secretary of the Relief Society, member of the ward choir, two years in Religion class work, Stake aid in Alpine Stake of Zion, Stake President of Young Ladies Mutual Improvement Association, which she held at her death. She was always ready to work with, to aid and to encourage others in the cause of truth.

In looking back to her school life it is a pleasure for me to say that she was a quite lady like, faithful student, endeavoring herself to the teacher by her kind, tactful, obedient nature, and willingness to conform to all rules and requirements made upon her.

We can only acquiesce humbly and sorrowfully in our Father's call to her and bow in submission to His will. Father knows what's best and although her mission on earth is ended we feel that it is but just commenced above, and can look back with hallowed pleasure to our associations with her in life—knowing that her calling and election is sure, and that she goes to a glorious reward.

Scandinavian Reunion.

The Scandinavians of Provo and the north end of Utah county are arranging to hold an old time reunion at the Geneva Resort on Labor Day, Sept. 2nd. T. C. Gronemann of Provo was here Friday in connection with the arrangements. He stated the occasion at their present plans would furnish music a plenty for old and young, with a program, dancing and sports, and that every one would be expected to bring picnic.

H. S. Rasmussen, in American Fork and Isaac Carlson in Pleasant Grove will gladly furnish inquirers with further particulars.

Timber Day Celebration September 2nd.

The people of this city will readily fall into the plans of the amusement committees who are arranging the old fashion "Timber Day" celebration, to be held at the Fourth ward grove on Sept. 2nd.

During the past year, the get-back-to-nature sentiment, the old style celebrations and amusements, have been freely contrasted with the semi-professional amusements and costly entertainments of modern times, always to the disadvantage of the modern celebrations.

The cold business proposition and commercial advantages have held first place in all modern celebration, instead of the supposed real object of such an occasion, namely, the getting together of the communities for recreation and social stimulant, as a sort of desert following a period of hard toil. It has grown an occasion to be almost dreaded by the tired mothers and fathers with limited purse. It meant new clothes all-around and considerable spending money for each of the children, until we have become a people whose one object on holidays were to out-do others if we had to make ourselves miserable to do it.

As we have said the general trend of sentiment in this country is to get back to the good old times of long ago—when there was no social lines drawn or class pride, which barred any from putting heart and soul in the amusements at holiday occasions.

The "tug of war," races, ball games, "May pole dance" folk dances, and timber games, followed by abundance of picnic, prepared by mother and the girls, have furnished more real enjoyment at practically no expense, than the high costing celebrations with a few professional exhibits that seldom come up to the advertisements.

Sports are best enjoyed when we or our children are apart of it, and a little friendly rivalry adds zest to the fun.

The committees in charge of "Timber Day" on Sept. 2, have such a celebration in mind, and they want every family in American Fork to join in and make it one of the best times we have had in years—a time like the people talked of and enjoyed here prior to 15 years ago. Now remember Sept. 2nd, it comes on Monday, Labor Day, and reserve your energy prepared to have a good time.

Preparations Already Underway For Irrigation Congress Parade

Salt Lake, August 23.—Preparations for the entertainment and exhibit features of the National Irrigation Congress which meets here September 30 are assuming shape rapidly and reports received this week by George A. Snow, chairman of the Utah Board of Control indicate that the attendance will be larger than any previous session of the Congress. Assurances have already been received from many counties of the state that they will take part in the parade and electrical pageant by providing floats illustrating the resources and opportunities of their respective localities and also in furnish maids of honor for the Queen of Irrigation.

Millard, Iron, Tooele, Beaver, Carbon, Salt Lake, Box Elder, Sevier, Davis and Utah counties are among those planning for extensive representation at the Congress, including the showing of floats in the parade. Practically all of the other counties of the state are considering the proposition for taking advantage of this opportunity to show their resources and products to the thousands of delegates and visitors in attendance at the Congress. California and Utah are counted on for floats in the division of states and Montana and Idaho are also considering plan or taking part. Work on some of the floats, including the immense car for the Queen of Irrigation and her attendants, is already under way.

The floats are being constructed by Minor and Young who have been designated as official float builders for the Congress. The old street car barn at Salt Lake have been leased by the builders of the floats and a large force of expert designers and persons skilled in the manufacture of artificial flowers and special designs has been engaged.

The large floats will be constructed on flat cars belonging to the street railway company and the current for the thousands of electric lights which they will bear will be taken from the trolley wires. In addition to the larger floats on cars there will be an assortment of automobiles and trucks in profusion. The parade committee is preparing an attractive list of prizes for floats in the parade and intense rivalry in this event is already in evidence.

Farmers should take a rap at the implement trust this fall by building a shed and gathering up all machinery they have left out in the weather. If other lines of trade and the professions were as careless with their tools as most farmers are, they would never be out of debt. We once heard a Salt Lake implement dealer remark "We shipped 1,400 car loads of machinery to this state this year, to supply the farmers who bought a similar lot last year." His remark was meant to show the machinery purchased last year was left out to rust and to be broken up—and in many cases such is the case.

How Speed Mania Was cured.

Not all persons upon becoming the owner of a motor vehicle imagine the price paid for the machine includes ownership of the streets, but a good many seem to have that impression. The change from dodging a car to being dodged is apt to be one in which the rights of the pedestrian are quickly forgotten. In our large cities the loss of life from automobiles and motorcycles has grown to be something frightful, and largely unnecessary. In some European cities the remedy is to arrest and fine the one who is so slow and stupid as to get run over—that is, if he survives. But no such process of law will be tolerated here, nor should it. On the other hand, motor cars are a modern necessity and the streets are no longer a safe place in which children can play. There must be moderation and caution on the part of both.

The enforcement of a reasonable speed reduces the accident and death rate to a minimum, and Chicago has demonstrated that such a reform can be easily accomplished in a few days. Several deaths each week from motors had rolled up a total of 75 in a short time, and something had to be done. This is the cure, and it was accomplished in a few days: While 15 miles an hour is the legal high speed, 20 miles was unofficially assumed to be the limit. Anyone exceeding that speed was promptly arrested and fined heavily, with the promise that the amount would be doubled for a second offense.

Instead of the cases being brought before some friendly magistrate in the district where the arrest was made, all cases were heard by one judge. This permitted a system of records, with the promise that something besides fines would be imposed after the second offense. For about a week the fines aggregated over $500 a day and then suddenly dropped. The effect was very noticeable after the third day; at the end of the first week there was really very little violation of the rules. The reform was accomplished so easily and quickly, that there seems no need for any other speed-infested city to longer tolerate such a needless condition of danger.—H. H. Windsor in the September Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Lively Time in Chicago.

A newspaper of Chicago suggests the tendency toward moderation by heading a catalogue of happenings there with the caption: "Something doing in Chicago at all times." Further, it specifies that the police cases average more than one a second, and that accidents are quite as numerous—"all due to crowding." The city's menu of excitement is printed:

- A death every fifteen minutes.
- A birth every eight minutes and twenty seven seconds.
- A murder every seventy hours.
- A suicide every eighteen hours.
- A serious accident, necessitating nurse's or physician's care every four minutes.
- A fatal accident every five hours.
- A case of assault and battery every twenty six minutes.
- A burglary every three hours.
- A holdup every six hours.
- A disturbance of the peace, to attract attention, every six hours.
- A larceny every twenty minutes.
- An arrest every seven minutes and thirty seconds.
- A fire every hour.
- An arrest for drunkenness every fifteen minutes.
- A marriage every twenty minutes.
- A case for the coroner every three hours.

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and the skin must be kept clean and healthy. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. We have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years."

We, ourselves vouch for the D.D.D. American Fork Drug Company.

A new building completed every one hour and fifteen minutes. A load passenger, train arrive every six seconds. A passenger, suburban and through, arrive every second at railway stations. Seventeen thousand gallons of water a minute pass through the 1,900 miles of city water mains. One thousand three hundred and forty-three letters are delivered by the postoffice every minute, day and night.
